

Becoming a R. E. A. L. Man in Today's World

SEAN MCKAY, ERIC BOLES and JON KITNA form a covenant group who will share at Men of Valor about their daily commitment and accountability with one another. They will also give examples of what their relationship with God and each other look like, and how it has impacted their personal lives and pursuit of sexual integrity.

JON KITNA is in his fourteenth season in the National Football League. He has played for the Seattle Seahawks, Cincinnati Bengals, Detroit Lions, and currently the Dallas Cowboys. Jon has passed for over 27,000 yards and has 152 touchdowns as quarterback in his career. Along with many other highlights and stats, Jon was part of a turnaround in both Seattle and Cincinnati, where he took Seattle to the playoffs and won the NFL 2003 Comeback Player of the Year in Cincinnati.

ERIC BOLES is co-founder of Diversified Learning Partners, a consulting firm that partners with organizations to maximize profits by enhancing performance. Eric is a highly acclaimed keynote speaker and consultant for some of the most recognized companies in the world. He has learned many principles on teamwork and leadership from his experience playing in the National Football League.

SEAN MCKAY is a successful business owner in Cincinnati. He began his business career while attending Miami University of Ohio in 1994 and has been an entrepreneur since that time. He is owner of Lynx Financial Group, Lynx Chemicals and is also involved in real estate and other diversified businesses.